

– Justin Trudeau –
Alleged Corruption within government,
Appointed officials neglecting their oath and duty to uphold the law

I request an investigation into the actions, or lack thereof, of the Governor General Julie Payette, Bill Blair, Minister of Border Security and Organized Crime Reduction, and RCMP Commissioner Lucki for dereliction of duty in allegedly covering up multiple criminal offences committed by the Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau.

The Prime Minister has committed multiple criminal offences and yet he is being protected by key appointed officials who are thereby in turn violating their oath of office and duty to uphold the rule of law.

Is Commissioner Lucki taking action in response to the SNC Lavalin scandal or terrorism expert, Tom Quiggin's, complaint filed in Ottawa against Trudeau for funding terrorism. RCMP File # 18-004212, Quiggin Report.

Aga Khan –

Peter Mac, retired law enforcement officer, from Nova Scotia, filed a complaint against Justin Trudeau for violations in connection with the Aga Khan.

Peter reported that the RCMP opened a file in 2018 on Trudeau for accepting bribes from the Agha Khan and that weeks later Brenda Lucki was appointed new RCMP commissioner and the file was squashed.

Reportedly, data was kept from Mr. Mac for a year.

A public enquiry is being requested on the mass shooting in Nova Scotia.

Bill Blair and Mark Feury are being requested to step down.

It is believed this mass murder was orchestrated in connection with Trudeau's legislation to confiscate guns.

The gun confiscation is a violation of property rights. There is petition to fire Bill Blair.

The government is working to disarm Canadians

foreign public official means an individual holding a legislative, executive, administrative or judicial office of a foreign country, at any level of government, whether appointed or elected, permanent or temporary, paid or unpaid, and irrespective of that person's seniority; and an individual exercising a public function for a foreign country, at any level of government, including for a public agency or public enterprise;

3. Privileges and Immunities

Members' Privileges and the Criminal Law

Privilege and the Criminal Code:

The special privileges of Members never were intended to set them above the law; rather, the intention was to give them certain exemptions from the law in order that they might properly execute the responsibilities of their position. Members of Parliament are subject to the criminal law except in respect of words spoken or acts done in the context of a parliamentary proceeding. However, it would be difficult to envisage a criminal act which would fit into or be a part of a parliamentary proceeding.<sup>[279]</sup> Therefore, it goes without saying that if Members are charged with infractions of the criminal law, they must abide by the due process of law. To do otherwise would show contempt for the Canadian system of justice.<sup>[280]</sup>

Freedom from arrest has been confined to civil cases and does not entitle a Member to evade criminal law. This is in accordance with the principle laid down by the British House of Commons in a conference with the House of Lords in 1641 where it was stated: "Privilege of Parliament is granted in regard of the service of the Commonwealth and is not to be used to the danger of the Commonwealth."<sup>[282]</sup>

Any incident of a criminal nature in which a Member has been charged is not a matter where immunity from arrest will protect that Member. <sup>[283]</sup> Matters of a criminal nature would include treason, felonies, all indictable offences, forcible entries, kidnapping, printing and publishing seditious libel, and criminal contempt of court (though not civil contempt). <sup>[284]</sup> Members cannot claim freedom from arrest or imprisonment on a criminal charge. A Member of the House of Commons is in exactly the same position as any other citizen if he or she is suspected of, charged with, or found guilty of a crime, provided that it is unrelated to proceedings in Parliament. <sup>[285]</sup>
